Fly with confidence.

We know aviation. We know insurance.

AVIATORS
INSURANCE

As insurance agents who fly, we know what you need and how to get it.

Our clients are not numbers on a piece of paper; they are our peers. That is why we procure policies exclusively from A-rated companies that cover your unique needs at competitive prices.

We know aviation, insurance and you.

By incorporating the best of all three worlds, Aviators ensures clear, complete and competitively priced policies.

Aviation...

As pilots, we know what our clients need because we have already been there. With decades of piloting experience under our belts, we have flown a variety of planes, from piston to turbine, pleasure to commercial. No matter the pilot or the aircraft, we will include the things you know and the things you haven't thought of yet, filling in all the gaps for complete coverage.

...insurance...

We have been writing insurance for 30 years. With direct underwriting contacts worldwide, it has enabled us to engage and encourage underwriters to offer complete insurance at reasonable prices. Our success stems from extensive experience in the industry; we have a foundational knowledge of what underwriters are looking for and what they consider to be attractive risks. So we develop well-rounded applications by putting faces to the paperwork through in-depth information about each client.

...and you.

Our clients are not just numbers to us; they are our peers. We know their names, their faces and their aircraft. We know their flying history and their biggest insurance concerns. A thorough application process enables us to customize policies for each client based on their specific needs.

Anything Aviation...

From aircraft renters to corporate flight departments, our detailed policies will get you the coverage and the confidence you need.

How We Get It.

In-depth process reaps competitive coverage.

It is all about you.

We do not just check off boxes on a form; we really delve into your needs as a client based on all aspects of your life in the air. Gathering thorough information about your personal goals and other details, we create a complete client picture, not just a piece of paper.

Applications with a face.

With detailed information about you readily available, an underwriter has a strong sense of a real person with real insurance needs. So instead of rejecting your application, it is considered as both a real person and a real opportunity for the underwriter. Since they appreciate the opportunity, they are more likely to offer the insurance you need at a great price.

We do not settle.

Armed with an attractive, complete client picture, we connect directly with A.M. Best "A" Rated or better insurance carriers for the best coverage at the best price. Once the perfect match is chosen, efficiency is the name of the game as we get you signed off and in the air.
